Foreword

Reasons for Legislation

For more than a century the United States has recognized the principle that commercial intercourse ceases between rival countries at war. The Supreme Court, in passing on this question in 1814, said it is a "fundamental proposition" of international law that neither business, nor correspondence can be maintained between the citizens of belligerent nations, except so far as may be allowed by the "sovereign authority."

Congress has, accordingly, passed an act setting forth in definite and concrete form the allowances and prohibitions which are to prevail in the existing emergency, and has gone the length of making violations of its mandate criminal, the offenders being subject to fine or imprisonment, or both. This is a novel development of a principle of international law; but the economic and financial resources of all the nations engaged in the present war are now of such vital importance that it is incumbent upon the Government to provide against the rendering of assistance to the enemy in any form or degree, and to conserve to the uttermost our own resources for ourselves and for those with whom we make common cause. In doing this, Congress has not enunciated any new principle of international law, but has interpreted its existing canons in the light of an immediate emergency.

Purposes of Legislation

The chief objects of this measure may be stated as:

First, to recognize and apply, subject to definite modification, the principles of international law interdicting trade in time of war;
and

Second, to conserve and utilize, upon a basis of practical justice, such enemy property as may be found within the jurisdiction of the United States.

Interdiction of Trade

The authorization of trade under license is one of the principal modifications of the rules of international law which are provided for in the present legislation forbidding trade between citizens of the United States and subjects of the enemy.

In effect the law prohibits all trade whatsoever with an enemy or ally of enemy of the United States, except by license issued by the President. However, a citizen or subject of an enemy or ally of enemy country, residing here or in a neutral country, is affected by the prohibitions of the law only when declared to be an enemy or ally of enemy by proclamation of the President.

Other acts prohibited by the law, except when licensed, include: the transportation of an enemy, or an ally of enemy, into or from the United States; the transmission of any letter, document, or other form of communication, to or from the United States, to an enemy or ally of enemy; the carrying on of business in the United States by enemy or ally of enemy insurance and reinsurance companies and others, through branches, agencies, or otherwise; and publication of any news item or comment on the war in foreign languages.

Conservation and Utilization of Enemy Property

In order that the United States, as far as is practicable, may utilize and conserve enemy property, the law provides for the surrender of alien enemy property to an alien property custodian. Such money or property may be invested in Government bonds. This gives the United States the benefit of the use of such funds during the period of the war, without confiscation; and, at the same time, protects the interests of subjects of belligerent nations.

Patents, Trademarks, and Copyrights

The prosecution, in enemy countries, of applications for letters patent, and for registration of trademarks and copyrights, is permitted to our citizens, and is permitted, in this country, to subjects of enemy or ally of enemy countries. The use of enemy patents, trademarks, and copyrights by citizens of the United States, for the purpose of manufacture or otherwise, is also permitted, and adequate remedy for compensation therefor to enemy owners is provided for. This latter provision will undoubtedly open a large field of industry for the manufacture of many articles, now manufactured in Germany, by the use of processes and devices which are protected here by patents held by Germans.

Our Foreign Trade Division is prepared to give any information that may be desired, especially in regard to such regulations and orders as may be issued from time to time under this Act.

Synopsis of Trading With the Enemy Act

DEFINITIONS

ENEMY OR ALLY OF ENEMY. Briefly stated, any person residing or doing business within an enemy country, and any person residing outside of the United States and doing business in an enemy country, and any corporation incorporated within an enemy country or incorporated within any country other than the United States and doing business within an enemy country, are termed "enemy." Doing business within an enemy country means having a branch, or agency actively conducting business within that country.

The bill does not bring within the term "enemy" a neutral, unless such neutral has a branch of its business within an enemy country. Nor does the bill term "enemy" a citizen or subject of an enemy nation residing in a neutral country and conducting no part of his business in an enemy country. The act provides, however, that a citizen or subject of an enemy country, residing or doing business anywhere, may by proclamation of the President be included in the term "enemy." (Sec. 2.)

The term "ally of enemy" is defined along similar lines as the definition of the term "enemy."

(Sec. 2.)

PERSON. An individual, partnership, association, company, or other unincorporated body of individuals, or corporation, or body politic.
(Sec. 2.)

UNITED STATES. All land and water, continental or insular, in any way within the jurisdiction of the United States or occupied by the military or naval forces thereof. (Sec. 2.)

THE BEGINNING OF THE WAR. Midnight ending the day on which Congress has declared or shall declare war or the existence of a state of war. (Sec. 2.)

END OF THE WAR. Date of proclamation of exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace, unless the President shall, by proclamation, declare a prior date, in which case the date so proclaimed shall be deemed to be the "end of the war" within the meaning of this Act. (Sec. 2.)

TO TRADE.

(a) Pay, satisfy, compromise, or give security for the payment or satisfaction of any debt or obligation.

(b) Draw, accept, pay, present for acceptance or payment, or indorse any negotiable instrument or chose in action.

(c) Enter into, carry on, complete, or perform any contract, agreement, or obligation.

(d) Buy or sell, loan or extend credit, trade in, deal with, exchange, transmit, transfer, assign, or otherwise dispose of, or receive, any form of property.

(e) To have any form of business or commercial communication or intercourse with. (Sec. 2.)

BANK OR BANKS. National banks, State banks, trust companies, or other banks or banking associations doing business under the laws of the United States, or of any State of the United States.

Acts Prohibited Except by License

Acts, transactions, and business prohibited and made criminal by the law, unless performed or carried on under license, include:

Transportation of Enemy or Ally of Enemy

Transporting or attempting to transport any person, with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that such person is a subject or citizen of an enemy or ally of enemy nation. (Sec. 3-b.)

Transmission of Communications

Transmitting or attempting to transmit out of or into the United States any letter or other communication (except through the mail), or transmitting any letter or other writing, book, map, plan, or other paper, picture, or any telegram, cablegram, or wireless message, or other form of communication, intended for or to be delivered directly or indirectly to an enemy or ally of enemy, except that this provision shall not apply to persons in the service of the United States or of any nation not an enemy or ally of enemy nor to such persons or class of persons as the President may make exempt. (Sec. 3-c.)

Enemy or Ally of Enemy Doing Business Here

Doing business in the United States by every enemy or ally of enemy, including insurance and reinsurance companies, whether through an agency, branch office, or otherwise. This restriction shall not apply until thirty days have elapsed after the enactment of the law, or until license is refused upon application made within thirty days after enactment. (Sec. 4-a.)

Change of Name

No enemy or ally of enemy and no partnership of which he was a member, at the beginning of the war, shall be permitted to change his or its name, during the war: (Sec. 4-b.)

Granting of Licenses

Authority to Grant Licenses

The President may grant licenses, special or general, temporary or otherwise, and for such period of time and containing such provisions and conditions as he shall prescribe, to any person or class of persons to do any act or to an enemy or ally of enemy to do business prohibited by this law (Sec. 5-a.)

Revocation and Renewal

The President may revoke or renew licenses from time to time, if in his opinion such action is compatible with the safety of the United States and the successful prosecution of the war. (Sec. 5-a.)

Delegation of Power

To carry out the provisions of this Act, the President may exercise any power or authority conferred hereunder through such officer or officers as he may direct. (Sec. 5-a.)

Export of Coin or Money

The President may investigate, regulate or prohibit any transaction in foreign exchange, export of gold or silver coin or bullion, and transfer of credit in any form by any bank, other than credits relating solely to transactions to be executed wholly within the United States, and transfers of evidences of indebtedness or of the ownership of property between the United States and any foreign country, whether enemy, ally of enemy, or otherwise, or between residents of one or more foreign countries, by any person within the United States, and may require any person engaged in such transaction to furnish under oath complete information relative thereto. (Sec. 5-b.)

Suspension of Performance of an Act to Prevent Violation

If the President has reasonable cause to believe that any act is about to be performed in violation of restrictions prohibiting trading, the transportation of an enemy or ally of enemy, or the transmission of letters, documents, or other communications to an enemy or ally of enemy, he may order the suspension of the performance of such act for a period not exceeding ninety days, pending investigation of the facts by him. ((Sec. 5-a.)

Letters Patent Applied for under License

The President may grant licenses for the prosecution of applications for letters patent or for registration of trademarks, or copyrights in the country of an enemy, or of an ally of enemy. (See page 32.)

Enemy or Ally of Enemy Doing Business Here

Every enemy or ally of enemy, including enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance companies, doing business within the United States through an agency or branch office, or otherwise, may, within thirty days after October 6, 1917, apply to the President for a license to continue to do business; and, within thirty days after such application, the President may enter an order either granting or refusing to grant such license. (Sec. 4-a.) (Sec. 5-a.)

Unlawful to Continue Business Without License

If a license is not applied for within thirty days after October 6, 1917, or if a license shall be refused to any enemy or ally of enemy, whether insurance or reinsurance company, or other person, making application, or if any license granted shall be revoked by the President, all trade or attempt to trade with, to, from, for, by, on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of such enemy or ally of enemy shall be unlawful. (Sec. 4-a.)

May Continue Business Pending License Application

For a period of thirty days after October 6, 1917 and further pending entry of order by the President after application made within thirty days by an enemy or ally of enemy, other than an insurance or reinsurance company, it shall be lawful for such enemy or ally of an enemy to continue to do business in this country and for any person to trade with, to, from, for, on account of, on behalf of, or for the benefit of such enemy or ally of enemy. (Sec. 4-a.)

May not Export Funds

During such period an enemy or ally of enemy insurance company may continue to do business in accordance with the terms of the President's Proclamation of April 6, 1917, as modified by the Proclamation of July 13, 1917, but may not transmit any funds out of the country or allow any funds to be used as a basis for credit for an enemy or ally of enemy. (Sec. 4-a.)

Licenses to do Business Restricted

The President shall not have power to license any marine or war-risk insurance or reinsurance business; or to authorize the transmission of any funds out of the United States, or their use as the basis for any credit, within or outside of the United States, for an enemy or ally of enemy. (Sec. 4-a.)

Payments Under Existing Policies or Contracts, After Refusal or Revocation of License

A policy-holder or an insurance company, not an enemy or ally of enemy, holding insurance or having effected reinsurance with an enemy or ally of enemy company, may receive payment from such enemy company, of any premium, return premium, claim, money, security, or other property due or to become due and in force at the time a license is revoked or refused such enemy company. Policies or contracts existing at such time are not made void by this act; and any policyholder or insurance company having any claim to money or other property of the enemy or ally of enemy insurance company in the control of the alien property custodian or of the Treasurer of the United States, may make application for the payment thereof and may institute suit as provided in this Act. (Sec. 4-a.)

Notice of Refusal or Revocation of License

Reasonable notice of intent to refuse to grant a license, or to revoke a license granted, to any reinsurance company shall be given by the President to all insurance companies within the United States known to be doing business with such reinsurance company. (Sec. 4-a.)

Effect of Law on Void Transactions

Nothing in this law shall render valid any act or transaction, constituting trading with an enemy, since the beginning of the war and prior to October 6, 1917, or any such act or transaction thereafter performed or entered into, except as authorized, which would otherwise be void or illegal at law. Any conveyance, transfer, delivery, or loan of money or other property, prohibited by this act, made after October 6, 1917, without license, shall create no right or remedy with respect thereto. Likewise the assignment, endorsement, or delivery of any debt, bill, note, or other obligation by or from an enemy or ally of enemy shall create no right or remedy against any person liable thereon, unless such obligation was made prior to the war or under license granted by the President. Any person who pays or satisfies such obligation will be subject to penalties prescribed for violation of the provisions of this act. (Sec. 7-b.)

Pre-War Payments

The law does not prohibit the payment of money belonging to an enemy or ally of enemy to a person within the United States, not an enemy or ally of enemy, if the funds so paid were received prior to the beginning of the war and the payments arose from transactions entered into prior to the war and not in contemplation thereof. A license from the President, however, is required before such payment may be made. The law furthermore does not prevent the performance or completion of any contract originally entered into by an enemy or ally of enemy, if, prior to the beginning of the war and not in contemplation thereof, the interest of the enemy or ally of enemy devolved upon a person not an enemy or ally of enemy, and no enemy or ally of enemy will be benefited by such performance other than by release from the obligation. (Sec. 7-b.)

Custodian of Enemy Property

Powers

The President is authorized to appoint an Alien Property Custodian who shall be empowered to receive all money and property in the United States due or belonging to an enemy or ally of enemy, and to hold and administer and to account for the same under the general direction of the President. Such custodian shall be required to give bond in form and amount as the President shall prescribe. (Sec. 6.)

Payment to Custodian a Discharge

Payment and delivery of money or property to such custodian shall be a full acquittance or discharge, for all purposes of the obligation of the person making such payment or delivery, and the Custodian, or such other person as the President may appoint, shall have power to evidence upon the record or otherwise such acquittance or discharge and to deliver any security therefor, which has come into his possession. Any person so empowered by the President will be furnished with a certificate from the President which will be accepted as evidence of his authority in the same manner as a power of attorney. (Sec. 7-e.)

Moneys Invested in Government Bonds

All moneys paid to or received by the Alien Property Custodian shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States and may be invested by the Secretary of the Treasury in United States Government bonds or certificates of indebtedness. As soon after the end of the war as the President may deem practicable, such securities shall be sold and the proceeds deposited in the Treasury. (Sec. 12.)

Other Property to be Deposited in Banks

All other property including stocks, bonds, notes, time drafts, or other securities (except checks, or drafts payable on demand) of an enemy or ally of enemy shall be deposited in any bank or banks, or trust companies in the United States designated by the President. Such depositaries are authorized to collect dividends, interest, or income which may become due on any stocks, bonds, notes, or other securities, and to deposit same in the Treasury of the United States. (Sec. 12.)

Rights of Custodian

The Custodian, in respect of all property other than money, shall possess the powers of a common law trustee, and under prescribed regulations may manage such property and exercise such rights as may appertain thereto when necessary to prevent waste or to protect such property, to the end that the interests of the United States or of the persons who may ultimately become entitled thereto, may be preserved and safeguarded. (Sec. 12.)

Corporations or unincorporated associations or trustees issuing shares or certificates representing beneficial interests are required to transfer stocks delivered to the custodian upon demand of the latter, accompanied by delivery of the certificates. The returns from property sold by the Custodian shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States. (Sec. 12.)

Money or property required or authorized to be paid or transferred to the Custodian, shall upon his written order be paid or transferred to the Treasurer of the United States. (Sec. 12.)

Disclosure of Stockholders, Officers, and Directors of Corporations and Unincorporated Associations

Every corporation organized in the United States, and every unincorporated association or company, or trustee or trustees within the United States, issuing shares or certificates representing beneficial interests are required to furnish the Custodian, within sixty days after October 6, 1917, with a full list of the names of every officer, director, or stockholder, living outside of the United States, known to be, or whom there is reasonable cause to believe to be, a citizen or subject of a nation at war with the United States or of an ally of such nation, together with the amount of stock or shares owned by each. A similar list may also be required by the President of all stock and shares owned on February 3, 1917, by an enemy or ally of enemy or which the corporation, company, or trustee has reasonable cause to believe is owned by an enemy or ally of enemy, though standing on the books in the name of another person. The name of any officer, director, or stockholder contained in this list may be stricken therefrom by the Custodian if he is satisfied that such officer, director, or stockholder is not an enemy or ally of enemy. The President may extend the time for filing lists or returns for an additional period not to exceed ninety days. (Sec. 7-a.)

Money, Property and Debts

Any person in the United States holding or having custody or control, alone or jointly, of any property, beneficial or otherwise, for or on behalf of an enemy or ally of enemy, or for any person whom he may have reasonable cause to believe to be an enemy or ally of enemy, or any person in the United States indebted in any way to an enemy or ally of enemy, or to any person believed to be such, is required to furnish the Custodian with a statement containing the particulars of such holdings of indebtedness. Such report shall be made within thirty days after October 6, 1917, or within thirty days after such property shall come within the custody or control of such person, or after such indebtedness becomes due. The President may also require a similar report of all property so held on February 3, 1917, but the name of any person included in such report may be stricken out by the Custodian if he is satisfied that such person is not an enemy or ally of enemy. The President may extend the time for filing lists or returns, for an additional period not to exceed ninety days. (Sec. 7-a.)

Any money or property owing or belonging to an enemy or ally of enemy who has not been granted a license by the President, may be required by the President to be paid over or conveyed to the Custodian. (Sec. 7-c.) If not so required, any person, not an enemy or ally of enemy, owning or holding money or property of an enemy or ally of enemy, if such enemy or ally of enemy does not hold a license hereunder, may, with the consent of the President, pay or transfer the same to the Custodian. (Sec. 7-d.)

Enforcement of Rights Affecting Enemy Property and Contracts

Mortgages and Liens

Any person, not an enemy or ally of enemy, holding a mortgage, pledge, lien, or other right in the nature of security in any property of an enemy or ally of enemy, which by law or by the terms of the instrument creating such right may be disposed of, may hold such property or, after default, may dispose of such property after notice to the Custodian under regulations prescribed by the President. Likewise, any person, not an enemy or ally of enemy, who is a party to a contract with an enemy or ally of enemy the terms of which provide for a termination upon notice or for acceleration of maturity on demand, may terminate or mature such contract upon notice to the Custodian.

If any surplus remains after the satisfaction of a mortgage or other claim, notice thereof shall be given to the President and such surplus held subject to his control and order. (Sec. 8-a.)

Notice to Custodian

The notice to the Custodian shall be for no longer period than is required by law or by the instrument providing for such notice. If no notice is required by law or by such instrument, notice will not be required by the Custodian. Notice given to the Custodian in accordance with the above shall have the same effect as if served upon an enemy or ally of enemy personally. (Sec. 8-a.)

Contracts Prior to War

Any contract entered into prior to the war, between any citizen of the United States, or corporation or organization within the United States, and an enemy or ally of enemy, the terms of which provide for the delivery of anything produced, mined, or manufactured in the United States, to an enemy or ally of enemy, may be abrogated by such citizen or corporation, by serving thirty days' notice in writing upon the Custodian. (Sec. 8-b.)

Claims for Property Transferred to Custodian

Any person, not an enemy or ally of enemy, having any interest, right, or title to any money or other property transferred to the Custodian, or to whom any debt may be owing from an enemy or ally of enemy whose property has been transferred to the Custodian, may file with the Custodian a notice of his claim. If application is made by the claimant for the transfer of such money or property, the President, with the assent of the owner thereof and of all persons claiming an interest therein, may order the payment or delivery to the claimant of such money or property, held by the Custodian or by the Treasurer of the United States, or of such interest therein as the President may determine the claimant is entitled to. An order of the President herein shall not bar any person from prosecuting suit to establish any right or interest in such money or property. (Sec. 9.)

May Sue in District Court

If the claimant files notice of his claim but makes no application to the President, or if the President shall not act on such application within sixty days, the claimant may, within six months after the end of the war, institute a suit in equity to establish the interest, right, title, or debt so claimed. Such suit shall be instituted in the district court of the United States for the district in which the claimant resides, or if the claimant is a corporation, the suit shall be instituted in the district where such corporation has its principal place of business. The property or money claimed shall be held by the Custodian until final decree is entered and satisfied by payment, or until the suit is otherwise terminated. Except as provided in the law, the money or property paid to the Custodian shall not be liable to lien, attachment, garnishment, trustee process, or execution, nor shall it be subject to any order or decree of any court. But money paid to the Custodian and deposited in the Treasury of the United States, as a trust fund for the payment of an enemy or ally of enemy owner of letters patent, or trademark, print, label, or copyright registration, used by a citizen of the United States under license from the President, may be distributed by order of a court. (Sec. 9.)

Enemy May Sue or Defend

An enemy or ally of enemy licensed hereunder may bring suit if the basis thereof originated in business transacted within the United States under such license; and, similarly, defend a suit brought against him. (Sec. 7-b.)

Notice from President a Defense

Notice from the President that he believes a person asserting a claim in law or equity is an enemy or ally of enemy shall operate as a prima facie defense to such suit. (Sec. 7-b.)

Statute of Limitation Suspended

The running of any statute of limitation shall be suspended with reference to the rights or remedies on any contract entered into prior to the beginning of the war between parties neither of whom is an enemy or ally of enemy, the terms of which provide for payment of money evidenced by commercial paper drawn against or secured by funds or property situated in an enemy or ally of enemy country. No suit shall be maintained on any such contract in the United States until after the end of the war, or until such funds or property shall be released for payment or for satisfaction of such contract. This provision shall not be construed to prevent the suspension of the running of any statute of limitation in cases where such suspension would occur under existing law. (Sec. 8-c.)

Settlement of Claims

After the end of the war, any claim of an enemy or ally of enemy to money or other property held by the Custodian, or deposited in the United States Treasury, shall be settled as Congress shall direct, except that, on order of the President, or of the court as provided in this Act, the Custodian or the Treasurer of the United States shall convey or pay to any person to whom the President shall order, or in whose behalf a final judgment or decree shall be entered, money or property of an enemy or ally of an enemy held by the Custodian or the Treasurer of the United States. The Treasurer of the United States on order of the Custodian shall repay to the licensee of any patent, trademark, or copyright, any funds deposited by said licensee. (Sec. 12.)

Statements for Collectors of Customs

Statements by Master of Ship and Owners, Shippers or Consignors of Cargoes

The master, or person in charge of any vessel, before departure of such vessel from port, shall deliver to the collector of customs of the district wherein such vessel is located, a statement duly verified under oath, that the cargo is not shipped or to be delivered in violation of law. The owner, shipper, or consignor of the cargo of such vessel shall in like manner deliver to the collector a similar statement as to the cargo or parts thereof, shipped by them; which statement shall contain the names and addresses of the actual consignees, or, if a shipment is made to a bank or other factor, the names and addresses of the persons who are the actual consignees. Copies of these statements shall be delivered to the American consular office at the port of destination of the cargo by the master or person in control of the vessel. (Sec. 13.)

Refusal of Clearance of Vessel

Whenever there is reasonable cause to believe that the manifest or statement is false, or that the vessel is about to carry any property to or for the account of an enemy or ally of enemy, the collector of customs, subject to review by the President, may refuse clearance to any vessel for which clearance is required by law, and by formal notice served upon the owner or person in command or in charge of any domestic vessel for which clearance is not required by law, may forbid the departure of such vessel from port. (Sec. 14.)

Report of Export of Coin or Bullion

When any cargo intended for export contains gold coin, silver coin, bullion, or other moneys of the United States, the collector of customs shall report to the President the amount thereof with names of trustees, consignors, and consignees, and any other facts known to the collector, particularly those which may indicate that the shipment may be intended for delivery to an enemy or ally of enemy. (Sec. 14.)

Patents, Trademarks and Copyrights

Prosecution of Applications

An enemy or ally of enemy may file and prosecute in the United States an application for a patent, or for registration of a trademark, print, label, or copyright, and pay any fee required by law including attorney's fees. If an enemy or ally of enemy is unable during the war, or within six months thereafter, on account of conditions arising out of the war, to file such application, or to pay any official fee required by law within the prescribed period, he may be granted an extension of nine months beyond the expiration of such period, provided the nation of which such applicant is a citizen or subject extends similar privileges to citizens of the United States. (Sec. 10-a.)

Any citizen of the United States, or any corporation organized within the United States, when duly authorized by the President, is permitted to pay to an enemy or ally of enemy, any tax, annuity, or fee which may be required by the laws pertaining to patents, trademarks, and copyrights, of such enemy or ally of enemy nation. Any citizen or corporation may file and prosecute an application for patent or registration of trademark or copyright in the country of an enemy or ally of enemy, after first receiving a license from the President, and may pay the fees required by law and agent's fees, the amount of which shall be subject to the control of the President. (Sec. 10-b.)

Use of Patent, Trademark or Copyright Owned by Enemy or Ally of Enemy

Permission to manufacture under patent or use any trademark or copyright owned or controlled by an enemy or ally of enemy during the existence of the war may be granted under license issued by the President. He may prescribe the conditions of the license, including the fixing of prices of articles and products necessary to the health of the military and naval forces of the United States and the successful prosecution of the war, and the rules under which it may be granted and the fee which shall be charged therefor. (Sec. 10-c.)

The licensee shall render, at stated periods (at least annually), to the President a statement of the extent of the use of the license and the prices received and shall pay to the Alien Property Custodian an amount not to exceed five per centum of the gross sums received from the use of such inventions, trademarks, or copyrighted matter, or five per centum of the value of the use of such inventions, trademarks, or copyrighted matter, if so ordered by the President. The amount paid shall be deposited by the Custodian with the

Treasurer of the United States as a trust fund for the licensee or for the owner of the patent, trademark or copyright. (Sec. 10-d.)

Licenses will continue during the term fixed in the license, or, in the absence of a limitation, during the term of the patent or copyright. (Sec. 10-e.)

For violation of these provisions or of the conditions of the license, the President, after due notice and hearing, may cancel any license. (Sec. 10-e.)

Invention Against Public Safety Kept Secret

If the President is of the opinion that the publication of an invention, through grant of a patent, may endanger the public safety or assist the enemy, he may order that such invention be kept secret and patent be withheld until the end of the war. If it be established that application for such a patent has been filed in any other country, or such invention published without the consent of the Commissioner of Patents or a license of the President, such invention may be held abandoned. (Sec. 10-i.)

Powers of Attorney

Powers of attorney heretofore or hereafter given by an enemy or ally of enemy to any person in the United States, in so far as the same may be necessary in the prosecution of an application for a patent or the registration of a trademark or copyright or the maintenance of a suit against a person other than a licensee to restrain infringement, are valid. (Sec. 10-g.)

Remedies of Enemy and Ally of Enemy Owners of Patents and Copyrights

Suits Against Licensee

An owner of a patent or copyright may, within one year after the end of the war, file a bill in equity against the licensee, in the United States district court (for the district in which the licensee resides, or, if a corporation, in which it has its principal place of business) for recovery from a licensee for all use and enjoyment of his patent, trademark, or copyright. The Treasurer of the United States shall be made a party to the suit, and the Custodian shall receive notice thereof within thirty days after its entry. The licensee shall be entitled to make any and all defences to such suit which would be available were no licenses granted. (Sec. 10-f.)

If judgment is rendered for the payment of royalty, the same shall be satisfied so far as possible by the fund which has been paid to the Custodian by the licensee. If any balance is left, the same shall be returned to the licensee. (Sec. 10-f.)

If no suit is brought against the licensee within one year after the termination of the war, all funds deposited by the licensee shall be returned.

After entry of suit or repayment of funds, the licensee shall not be required to make further reports to the President. (Sec. 10-f.)

If suit is brought, the court may terminate the license and, in such event, may restrain infringement thereafter, or may continue the license for a stated period with such royalties as it may find just and reasonable. (Sec. 10-f.)

Suits Against Others than Licensee

If the President shall not so order within sixty days after the filing of such application, or if the claimant shall have filed the notice as above required and shall have made no application to the President, said claimant may, at any time before the expiration of six months after the end of the war, institute a suit in equity in the district court of the United States for the district in which such claimant resides, or, if a corporation, where it has its principal place of business (to which suit the Alien Property Custodian or the Treasurer of the United States, as the case may be, shall be made a party defendant), to establish the interest, right, title, or debt so claimed, and if suit shall be so instituted then the money or other property of the enemy, or ally of enemy, against whom such interest, right, or title is asserted, or debt claimed, shall be retained in the custody of the Alien Property Custodian, or in the Treasury of the United States, as provided in this Act, and until any final judgment or decree which shall be entered in favor of the claimant

Except as herein provided, the money or other property conveyed, transferred, assigned, delivered, or paid to the Alien Property Custodian shall not be liable to lien, attachment, garnishment, trustee process, or execution, or subject to any order or decree of any court.

SEC. 10. That nothing contained in this Act shall be held to make unlawful any of the following Acts:

Enemy may Apply for Letters
Patents

(a) An enemy, or ally of enemy, may file and prosecute in the United States an application for letters patent, or for registration of trademark, print, label, or copyright, and may pay any fees therefor in accordance with and as required by the provisions of existing law and fees for attorneys or agents for filing and prosecuting such applications. Any such enemy, or ally of enemy, who is unable during war, or within six months thereafter, on account of conditions arising out of war, to file any such application, or to pay any official fee, or to take any action required by law within the period prescribed by law, may be granted an extension of nine months beyond the expiration of said period, provided the nation of which the said applicant is a citizen, subject, or corporation shall extend substantially similar privileges to citizens and corporations of the United States.

U. S. Citizen
may Apply
in Enemy Country

(b) Any citizen of the United States, or any corporation organized within the United States, may, when duly authorized by the President, pay to an enemy or ally of enemy any tax, annuity, or fee which may be required by the laws of such enemy or ally of enemy nation in relation to patents and trademarks, prints, labels, and copyrights; and any such citizen or corporation may file and prosecute an application for letters patent or for registration of trademark, print, label, or copyright in the country of an enemy, or of an ally of enemy after first submitting such application to the President and receiving license so to file and prosecute, and to pay the fees required by law and customary agents' fees, the maximum amount of which in each case shall be subject to the control of the President.

(c) Any citizen of the United States or any corporation organized within the United States desiring to manufacture, or cause to be manufactured, a machine, manufacture, composition of matter, or design, or to carry on, or cause to be carried on, a process under any patent or to use any trademark, print, label or copyrighted matter owned or controlled by an enemy or ally of enemy at any time during the existence of a state of war may apply to the President for a license; and the President is hereby authorized to grant such a license, non-exclusive or exclusive as he shall deem best, provided he shall be of the opinion that such grant is for the public welfare, and that the applicant is able and intends in good faith to manufacture, or cause to be manufactured, the machine, manufacture, composition of matter, or design, or to carry on, or cause to be carried on, the process or to use the trademark, print, label or copyrighted matter. The President may prescribe the conditions of this license including the fixing of prices of articles and products necessary to the health of the military and naval forces of the United States or the successful prosecution of the war and the rules and regulations under which such license may be granted and the fee which shall be charged therefor, not exceeding $100, and not exceeding one per centum, of the fund deposited as hereinafter provided. Such license shall be a complete defense to any suit at law or in equity instituted by the enemy or ally of enemy owners of the letters patent, trademark, print, label or copyright, or otherwise, against the licensee for infringement or for damages, royalty, or other money award on account of anything done by the licensee under such license, except as provided in subsection (f) hereof.

Term of License

(e) Unless surrendered or terminated as provided in this Act, any license granted hereunder shall continue during the term fixed in the license or in the absence of any such limitation during the term of the patent, trademark, print, label, or copyright registration under which it is granted. Upon violation by the licensee of any of the provisions of this Act, or of the conditions of the license, the President may, after due notice and hearing, cancel any license granted by him.

Enemy Owner May Sue for Accounting

(f) The owner of any patent, trademark, print, label, or copyright under which a license is granted hereunder may, after the end of the war and until the expiration of one year thereafter, file a bill in equity against the licensee in the district court of the United States for the district in which the said licensee resides, or, if a corporation, in which it has its principal place of business (to which suit the Treasurer of the United States shall be made a party), for recovery from the said licensee for all use and enjoyment of the said patented invention, trademark, print, label, or copyrighted matter: Provided, however, That whenever suit is brought, as above, notice shall be filed with the Alien Property Custodian within thirty days after date of entry of suit: Provided further, That the licensee may make any and all defences which would be available were no license granted. The court on due proceedings had may adjudge and decree to the said owner payment of a reasonable royalty. The amount of said judgment and decree, when final, shall be paid on order of the court to the owner of the patent from the fund deposited by the licensee, so far as such deposit will satisfy said judgment and decree; and the said payment shall be in full or partial satisfaction of said judgment and decree, as the facts may appear; and if, after payment of all such judgments and decrees, there shall remain any balance of said deposit,

All Defences Available

such balance shall be repaid to the licensee on order of the Alien Property Custodian. If no suit is brought within one year after the end of the war, or no notice is filed as above required, then the licensee shall not be liable to make any further deposits, and all funds deposited by him shall be repaid to him on order of the Alien Property Custodian. Upon entry of suit and notice filed as above required, or upon repayment of funds as above provided, the liability of the licensee to make further reports to the President shall cease.

Return of Deposit to Licensee if no Suit is Instituted

If suit is brought as above provided, the court may, at any time, terminate the license, and may, in such event, issue an injunction to restrain the licensee from infringement thereafter, or the court, in case the licensee, prior to suit, shall have made investment of capital based on possession of the license, may continue the license for such period and upon such terms and with such royalties as it shall find to be just and reasonable.

Practice on Hearing

(g) Any enemy, or ally of enemy, may institute and prosecute suits in equity against any person other than a licensee under this Act to enjoin infringement of letters patent, trademark, print, label, and copyrights in the United States owned or controlled by said enemy or ally of enemy, in the same manner and to the extent that he would be entitled so to do if the United States was not at war: Provided, That no final judgment or decree shall be entered in favor of such enemy or ally of enemy by any court except after thirty days' notice to the Alien Property Custodian, such notice shall be in writing and shall be served in the same manner as civil process of Federal courts.

Enemy May Enjoin Infringement of Patent

Powers of Attorney

(i) Whenever the publication of an invention by the granting of a patent may, in the opinion of the President, be detrimental to the public safety or defense, or may assist the enemy or endanger the successful prosecution of the war, he may order that the invention be kept secret and withhold the grant of a patent until the end of the war: Provided, That the invention disclosed in the application for said patent may be held abandoned upon it being established before or by the Commissioner of Patents that, in
